

LUNA PARK SYDNEY HAS BEEN OPEN FOR 4 YEARS THIS FRIDAY!

On the very auspicious 4th day of April, 2004 (04.04.04), Luna Park Sydney threw open its gates to a mass of eagerly awaiting Sydneysiders keen to re-live the memories and share the experience.

Having been vacant for so many years, there was much speculation as to what would become of Sydney's most famous Face. Fortunately, enterprising Directors Peter Hearne and Warwick Doughty recognised its cultural significance and the special place that Luna Park had in the hearts of Sydneysiders and its international visitors alike. After winning the tender to take over the site, they blew the dust off the once loved amusements and breathed life into the iconic and historic precinct.

"The Face grinned more proudly than ever as thousands of children ran excitedly beneath it. Each was keen to experience all the fun and excitement they'd heard about from generations before them" said Peter Hearne, Managing Director – Luna Park Sydney.

Now, some four years on:

- Over 4.5 million people have had the time of their life at Luna Park
- The Ferris Wheel has clocked up 506,880 rotations
- There have been 168 marriage proposals
- And...yes we must say it, there have been 5,110 "Protein Spills" (Luna Parkese for vomit)

So it looks like Luna Park Sydney is here to stay!

...just for fun!
